

OUTLOOK IS GOOD FOR CAMP OF JARBRIDGE

According to the Twin Falls News the roads of Jarbridge are about the toughest proposition that prospectors of this state have found in many years. In spite of the fact that the camp is springing ahead the roads into the camp from any direction are pronounced the limit. It is very difficult to get machinery into the camp owing to the condition of the roads. Once the highways into Jarbridge are placed in good condition it will be possible to haul heavy machinery over them, but not until then.

Going into the camp, either from Twin Falls, Mountain Home or Brunau, many outfits of machinery may be seen deposited along the routes, the road having given away with them, dumping the machinery off into the gullies below, where it is next to impossible to recover it. The expense attached to the freighting of this heavy machinery to Jarbridge is very heavy.

Just as soon as possible the sections of a large mill will be freighted into the camp. Each timber will be cut ready to set into place as soon as the mill site is selected and all of the mill arrives. In this way it is expected that at least one mill and the necessary machinery can be taken into camp.

The Jarbridge ore is easy to handle and mill and the values can be extracted without a great deal of trouble. There are many properties being developed. Several hundred men are working in the camp on these. Jarbridge is rapidly improving as a coming camp. It has a live commercial club, stores, houses, etc. The prospects are most good for a big camp and a profitable one.

CHINESE GIRL AT WINNE- MUCCA FEARS SLAVERY

Ignorance sticks with death-like grip and enlightenment comes slowly. One born in this free country and enlightened age ought to know that he or she is free, but here is a case that is an exception:

Edna, the China woman of Winnemucca, says the Silver State, has been worried the last few days by a stranger from San Francisco who told her he was going to sell her. "He say I look good to him," said she in telling about it, "and he goin' sell me for $600."

Now this young woman was born in the United States, but her time has nearly all been spent among people of her own race, and she is in consequence densely ignorant of very many things which everybody is supposed to know. She probably knows how girls are bought and sold in China like so many dolls, and how they are sometimes sold in the large cities in America. It may be that she never heard what happens to the men who sell the girls, when they are caught. Such knowledge as this may have been kept from her, as certain knowledge was kept from slaves before the war.

Another idea handed down from a benighted race is that when a woman marries a second husband she must not see her children any more. Edna has a little boy, and when she was married again the boy was sent away to live with a relative. He came back on a visit once, but never went home. Inquiry was made as to why, and the vague answer was given that "they wouldn't allow it." Just who would not allow it, or why, could not be learned, but it was evident that the one who broke such a rule feared some terrible consequences.

She was assured that the stranger could not sell her, and she took courage, but did not appear so sure about it.

GOLDFIELD NOW AFTER HONORS AS DIVORCE CENTER

IS MAKING DESPERATE AT-TEMPT TO CROWD RENO
OFF THE MAP

The following is taken from the Goldfield Tribune, and it is evident that the divorce industry of that camp is real prosperous. It may be well to state right now that Tonopah is not taking any back seats in the matter of divorces, and that decrees are granted here with astonishing regularity. In fact we have several prominent members here in our own little colony, which is drawing its membership from Reno. The Tribune says the following:

"That Goldfield is to replace Reno as the divorce colony of the country, and that all of the cases which have heretofore gone to Reno will hereafter be filed in Goldfield, is the announcement of Attorney W. H. Schnitzer, known throughout Nevada as the 'divorce lawyer.'"

"Mr. Schnitzer is well known here, having formerly engaged in practice at this point until the time of the labor troubles, when he removed his headquarters to Reno. He announced yesterday that he intends to open offices here in the near future and that Goldfield will be his headquarters. It is understood that he now has a large number of cases docketed here."

"Asked why he did not continue practice at Reno, Mr. Schnitzer replied: "I do not intend to give up my Reno offices entirely, but I believe Goldfield is destined to become the center of the Nevada divorce business. As a matter of fact, the people of Reno, after profiting enormously at the hands of the divorce colonists, have given them anything but a square deal, and it is my intention to see that my clients are not annoyed or swindled during the progress of their cases."

CHICAGO BOY LOCKED IN CHICKEN COOP

Robbie Effert, five years old, was dragged forth, tired, cold and very sleepy, by two policemen from a chicken coop filled with chickens in the rear of 4610 Warwick avenue, Chicago, where, it was said, he had been locked in by his mother to sleep while she went out to spend the night with friends. The little fellow was sound asleep, when discovered by the officers, upon a piece of burlap and an old skirt, which the neighbors had thrown over the fence to keep him warm.

"What are you doing here?" "Mamma told me to sleep wif the little chickens," replied the little chap, rubbing his eyes sleepily and shivering with the cold. He still clung to the precious skirt and the old piece of burlap was found to be still warm from contact with the little sleeper's body. He was taken to the Thirty-sixth precinct police station and turned over to the juvenile officer. Neighbors called up the police station and informed the sergeant that the boy was locked in the chicken coop, and the officers were sent to investigate. The boy's father is a waiter and works nights in a down town hotel. When arraigned the woman confessed that she had locked her son in a chicken coop while she spent twelve hours from home. She told the court that it had been her practice to lock the child in the chicken coop because she thought he would be safer there during her absence. She was fined $25.

REPUBLICANS WILL CONTROL LEGISLATURE

RENO, Nov. 11—From incomplete returns it looks as if the Republicans will have a constitutional majority in the Nevada legislature. The senate will be republican by one. The democrats elected four assemblymen out of seven in Washoe county and also elected a state senator.

Cy Osgood, of the Montana Tonopah, who spent the last few weeks visiting in Sacramento, has returned to Tonopah and resumed his duties.
